The frank report of Navy Secretary Knox, and the appointment of an investigatory board of unquestioned integrity to probe the Pearl Harbor disaster are assurance that nothing is to be covered up. Everything will be learned that it is serviceable to know. The officers in responsible posts at the time have been replaced. But let us remember this:

Chinese Troops Sent to Aid Burma, Malaya

Chinese Celebrate Changsha Victory in Which 52,000 Japs Were Killed

SINGAPORE (AP)—Confidence is mounting in the long-range possibilities of the defense of Singapore despite a new retreat which forced the British to fall back from their positions below Ipoh on the west side of the Malayan peninsula.

This confidence, which is evident despite the fact that the British have been forced to yield approximately 200 miles of the peninsula in little less than a month, springs largely from the appointment of a Far Eastern high command of the United forces under General Sir Archibald Wavell.

Civilians as well as men in military and naval service believed that his prompt reinforcements of Burma defenses and his negotiations with Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, which resulted in veteran Chinese troops crossing into Burma, meant that Wavell already is very much on the job coordinating the activities of the vast theater of the war.

(London dispatches said the Chinese troops are believed on their way to Malaya to help Malaya defend Singapore.)

(Dispatches said the Chinese manpower would do much in overcoming difficulties of the outnumbered British forces.)

52,000 Japs Killed
CHUNGKING (AP)—Fire crackers were discharged and gongs sounded triumphantly in the streets of Chungking Monday to celebrate what the Chinese proclaimed a "great victory over the Japanese at Changsha."

The Chinese said that junction had been effected by the Chinese-Changsha garrison and troops sent to its relief and that a Chinese cordon was drawn about the Japanese forces which had 52,000 casualties in three days.

The Japanese, dependent upon airborne supplies are continuing attempts to break out of the trap, the Chinese said.

Snow Again Falls Monday

Temperature of 17 Degrees for Sunday Night

Light snow again began to fall Monday morning and the University of Arkansas Experiment Station reported an official 4 1/2 inches of snow for the week-end period.

Cold again showed the mercury down to 17 degrees Sunday night and 19 degrees was reported at 10:30 Monday morning. High temperature for the 24-hour period was 30 degrees.

Proclamation Issued Monday by Roosevelt

Men in This Group Will Be Subject to Active Military Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Monday set February 16 for the registration of all male citizens of the nation between the ages of 20 and 44 who have not registered previously.

Men in this age group will be subject to military service.

The date was filed in a proclamation: It made no mention of registration of men from 45 through 64 who are to be registered later on but who will be exempt from service with the armed forces under present legislation.

In his proclamation the chief executive noted that this and other registrations under the selective service act will be required to insure "final and complete victory over the enemies of the U. S."

The registration will apply to all male citizens and some non-citizens born on or after February 17, 1897 and before December 31, 1921. It is to take place not only in the United States but also in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

AAA Payments for Farmers

Bill Introduced by Spencer Is Approved

Arkansas farmers whose croplands were acquired by the federal government last Summer in connection with military training camps and war defense industries will receive agricultural conservation payments, T. A. Cornelius, president of the Hempstead County Farm Bureau, has been notified by Senator Lloyd Spencer of Arkansas.

A bill introduced by Senator Spencer providing for conservation payments recently was approved by the congress, bringing to a successful culmination a movement originated by the Hempstead County Farm Bureau several months back when farmers evacuated from the Army's shell proving ground site near Hope were notified that these payments would not be made even though farmers had qualified for them under regulations of the AAA program. Parity payments, however, were guaranteed. The amount in dispute was approximately $30,000.

The protest by the Hempstead county farmers was supported by a letter of protest from the county Farm Bureau in other states where similar situations existed and from the several state and the national federations. Senator Spencer's measure covers all such situations in the nation.

Hundreds of Arkansas farmers were forced to leave their lands and crops last summer after they had qualified for AAA payments to make way for defense industries and military camps around area and in the ETAGINI particularly in the shell proving ground area and in the Camp Claiborne area near Fort Smith where an artillery camp is being erected.

Says Finns May Ask for Peace With Russia

Rout of Axis Armies Continues on Russian, Libyan Fronts

By the Associated Press
Adolf Hitler, still steadily losing the Russian footholds for which he paid so dearly, and harassed at the rear by new blows of the conquered people, was confronted Monday by a hint of Finnish deflection.

Now, according to reports to the British news agency, Reuters, the influential Helsinki newspaper, Suomen Sosialidemokratia, says the time seems "a suitable opportunity to break off military operations."

Russian forces continuing a 2-day offensive north of Lake Onega were bent back all along the line and suffered heavy losses Sunday, the Finnish war communique reported Monday.

The Red army power drive was reported officially Monday to have carried through Belov, 100 miles west of the German highwater mark on the south flank of the Moscow front. The Germans were said to have lost 2,300 men in dead and wounded in fighting for Belov.

The Belov drive paralleled a pincer movement farther north to which Borovsk had fallen, heightening the threat of entrapment for the Germans at Moshinsk, west of Moscow.

With the Russian offensive in full swing against the entire German front the Finns may have concluded it better to strike a bargain with Russia before the full force of the Russian drive hits them.

Thus British and U. S. efforts to negotiate a Finnish-Russian settlement, once rebuffed by Helsinki, may be ready to bear fruit.

Finland has long been regarded as the most likely state to be cut out of the Hitler camp.

There was an upsurge of serial warfare in western Europe while over the Egyptian-Libyan border the Royal Airforce hammered at Axis forces in the area of Halfaya (Hell-fire) pass. The air assault was timed with land attacks.

"In the Addebi area our mobile columns and air forces maintained their pressure on the enemy, especially against his communications lines to the west," a Cairo communique said.

The Hitler high command said that five RAF planes were struck down in battles over the Libyan front Sunday, that German bombers damaged 6 ships and a destroyer in the German port of Feodosya and that submarines in the Atlantic, Arctic and Mediterranean waters had recently sunk four ships.

Rev. Scott to Address Kiwanis

Pilkinton, as vice president, and B. E. McMahon as secretary-treasurer. The following will be installed as directors: A. W. Stubbs, Ed. Hankins, Cecil Dennis and Buford Poe.

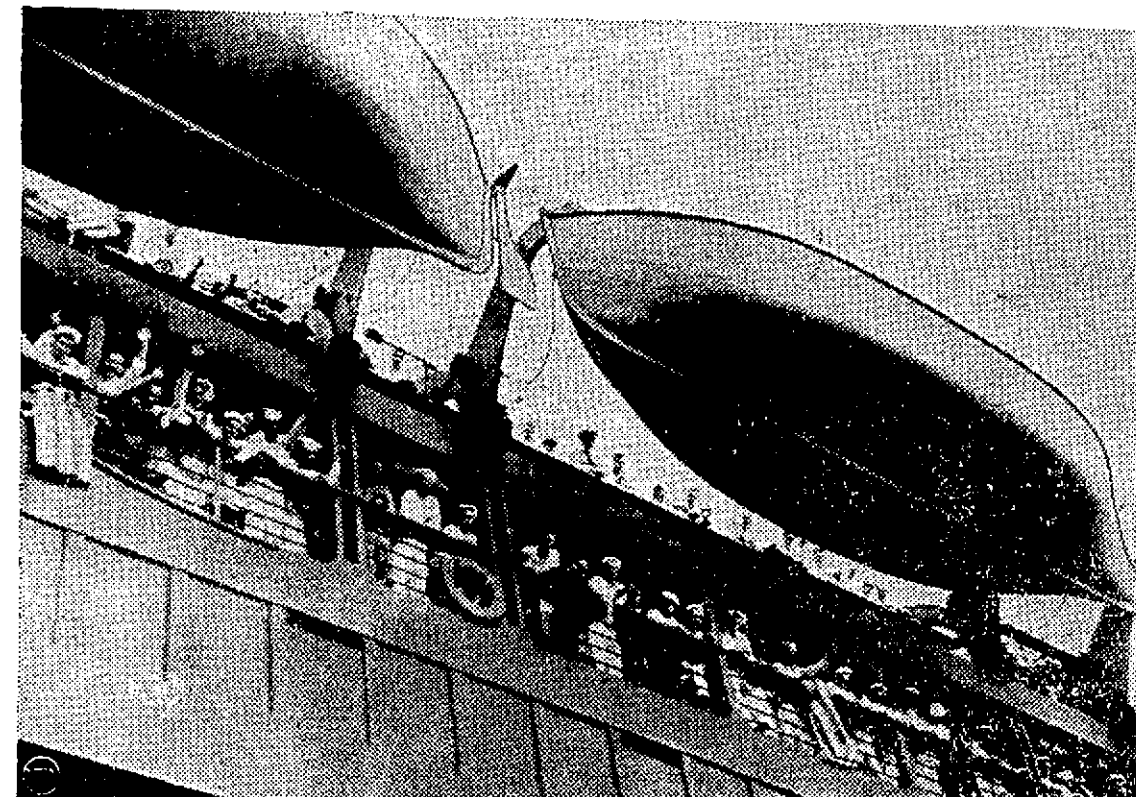

Appearing on the program will be Mrs. B. A. Watson who will sing a solo accompanied by Mrs. Aubrey Graves, both of Texarkana, and Mr. Flen Ferguson who will render a piano solo.

In addition to the Hope club members and their wives it is believed that delegations from Little Rock, El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Texarkana will be in attendance. The banquet begins promptly at 7:30 to be followed by the program.

700 Japs Killed in Battle North of the Capital

4 More Enemy Bombers Downed Over Corregidor for Total of 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Department announced Monday that General Douglas MacArthur's Philippine army repulsed a Japanese attack with heavy enemy losses, estimating that at least 700 of the enemy were killed.

American and Philippine losses were described in the communique as "relatively small."

The War Department said "this was one of the most serious reverses suffered by the Japanese invaders since the war began."

The Japanese attack took place northwest of Manila.

At the same time the garrison of the Corregidor fortress shot down four more Japanese bombers in beating off the third successive air attack.

This raid placed officially enemy plane losses over the Corregidor at 15.

4 Bombers Shot Down
The communique said that four additional Japanese planes were hit but their destruction was not confirmed.

Fifty-two bombers took part in the 3-hour attack.

Both the land battle on Luzon Island and the latest air raid on the Corregidor took place Sunday.

General MacArthur reported that his forces crushed the attack, presumably in the Pampanga province northwest of Manila, in escaping an attempted enemy trap.

Whites Treated Harshly by Japs

Charges Discrimination Against U. S. Civilians

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japanese invaders of the Philippines accorded especially harsh treatment to American civilians in Manila in discrimination against all white residents, the War Department said Monday.

Immediate speculation arose whether the State Department would seek through the Swiss diplomatic channels to better the conditions of U. S. citizens in the island. Switzerland is looking after the U. S. interests in Japan.

Doolin, in a news broadcast from Tokyo heard in London, quoted high sources in the imperial high command as denying reports from the Philippine capital "indicating discrimination against Americans by occupying Japanese forces in marked contrast to previously accorded Japanese civilians by American troops."

Hearing Set on New Well

Midway Well Limited to 400 Barrels

A tentative agreement was reached over the week-end between the Bunsdall Oil company, the Oil and Gas commission of Arkansas and a representative of the Petroleum Coordinator for National Defense for control of the Midway Wildcat well and other oil activities in the area.

The agreement is subject to action at a formal hearing of the Oil and Gas Commission which has been tentatively set for January 27 at the Union county courthouse in El Dorado.

At this meeting field rules for all pools in the state will be open for discussion, which includes some seven line pools not yet fully developed.

The geophysical on the Midway pool is approximately six miles long and two miles wide. A test on the discovery well Saturday morning showed a potential of 83 barrels an hour through a 1-4 inch choke with a gas-ratio of 350 cubic feet to the barrel of oil produced.

Barnsdall already is planning to construct a pipeline to the Ouachita river, a distance of some 50 miles. Until the line is completed the Lion Oil Refining company will take the production either by truck or through a small line it would construct, it was announced.

The tentative agreement follows: Tentative Agreement

At this meeting George Robison, member of the board who attended the statewide meeting last week-end, will explain the rationing plan, Dorsey McRae, chairman of the group announced.

The rationing board, composed of Dorsey McRae, chairman, George W. Robison and T. S. McDavitt, was approved by the Hempstead Defense Council and automatically become members of the executive board of that organization.

The tire board will start functioning as soon as application forms are received from the state organization.

CHAPTER I

THE man at the crossroads gasery came out to the pump. "Why, it's Mom Baumer," he said. "Hiya, Mom?"

"Hiya, pal," I said. "Fill her up."

"Must be five years since I seen you," he said.

"All of that," I said. "You've got a good memory."

"Oh, nobody ever forgets you, Mom," he said.

I guess that's right, too. I'm a sort of institution on the roads. He took a gander at my trailer.

"How's the feed trade?" he asked, being polite.

While he was polishing the windshield I said, "What's this I hear about Tambay Plantation?"

"It's right," he said. "Life among the ruins. Poor relation."

"What sort?"

"Yankee. Keeps herself to herself."

"Would she take in a tourist, do you reckon?"

"Would the White House?" The said, "Tambay's still Tam-bay."

"Okay, pal," I said. "But that's where I bunk tonight. I've got a particular reason for wanting to sleep there tonight."

Coming into Tambay Plantation I rolled along quietly. Opposite the mansion I dropped the trailer.

Before turning in at the big entrance, I switched off my lights. What with the rain and the wind, there wasn't much danger of my being heard before I was ready. I got out of the car and hung a gadget of mine that had been a good old standby many a time when I wanted a lodging, on the gatepost.

Through the untended shrubbery between the live oaks I could make out Tambay Mansion. It was like a tired old lady, tired of everything, even of pride, but with the everlasting guts to keep her chin up against all comers, no matter how shabby and sad and poor she might be. Well, I was feeling a little like that myself, after 10 years on the road. I could use some rest.

I KNOCKED on the door; a good, hard, honest knock. The light moved and the door opened.

"Who is it?"

"I was all set for a scrawny old-maid type with slit-eyes and a New England-yellow skin. This wasn't it, at all. The voice didn't have a poor relation whine, either."

"Could I get a room?" I said.

"No," she said. "You're in the wrong place."

"Tourists Accommodated," I said. "Going to make a liar out of your sign?"

She got an umbrella and we sloshed through the long grass. I switched my pocket flash on the place where I'd done my picture-hanging.

"What about it?" I said.

Instead of answering, she put up a hand and felt the woodwork back of my sign. Naturally, it hadn't had time to get wet. Nobody's fool, that gal.

"Do you get away with it often?" she asked.

"More often than you might think," I told her.

I guessed that maybe she didn't have entire confidence in me. So I put the spotlight on myself.

"Mom Baumer," I said. "Fat and 60; wet and tired."

She kind of hesitated. "There's only the north room furnished," she said. "It leaks."

"So does this sky," I said. "I don't know," she said to herself. "Why do you pick on Tambay?" she asked.

"It's a long story," I said. "I'd do a lot better by it in the morning."

"I'm Jane Ann Judson," she said.

That north room would sure have been a risk for anyone in weak health. Pots and pans did their best to take care of the dribbles. The bed was pretty clammy,

A Hard Lesson in Diplomacy

Uncle Sam Is Stabbed From Behind by Japs

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The United States is notoriously bad at diplomacy. We have had our diplomatic knuckles whanged at nearly every international council table since the first of the nineteenth century. We have been hood-winked, badgered, back-slapped, sidestepped and out-talked by more nations than you could wave a switch at (and it was only when we substituted a "big stick" for that switch that we ever got listened to at all).

But never in the history of American diplomacy have we ever been taken like Japan took us in those hours before and during the opening of the war in the Pacific.

To go back a hundred years or so, the United States first took cognizance of the far Pacific in 1833 when it signed its first far eastern pening hospitalities by Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Miss Robins Has Gala Holiday Dance for College Crowd

Miss Nancy Robins entertained with a dance on Friday evening at the American Legion hall.

The guests included the members of the college crowd home from the holidays and a number of out-of-town guests.

For the occasion the club rooms were decorated with seasonal arrangements and a nickelodeon furnished the rhythmic tunes to which the guests danced. Punch was served throughout the evening.

treaty with Siam. Twenty years later, Commodore Perry hammered on the doors of Nippon and opened them to western civilization. If he hadn't, Japan might still be the ingrown toenail of the Pacific, subject to the same decay that afflicts all civilizations whose doors are barred against the ideas and ideals of world progress.

Japan unfortunately absorbed quickly. Ambition flowered in the Land of the Rising Sun, and so rapidly that within a little more than 60 years, at the council table with the United States and Great Britain, this land laid the groundwork for the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The opening guns were not fired on Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941. They were fired across the council table in Washington in 1921 and 1922 when Great Britain and the United States agreed to the 5-5-3 naval limitations and further conceded that the United States would not fortify anything west of Hawaii, nor the British anything east of Singapore. In return Japan was to keep its fingers off the thousands of mandated islands and possessions it controlled (mostly as a "gift" following World War I) from Honolulu to the Malay peninsula.

Japan had no intention then of obiding by that treaty. Within a few years, it was referring to those islands as "its second navy" the only difference being that the islands were anchored ships of war.

Japan's attempted rape of eastern Asia in the last ten years is too well known to need repeating, but it all fits into the background of those tense days which finally brought, suave, smiling, outwardly friendly Saburo Kurosu here to work with Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura "for peace in the Pacific."

No words can explain how completely the United States was taken in by this subterfuge. The Army and Navy were fooled; the State Department was fooled; and even the President mislead his faith in this effort to avoid war. It is extremely likely that not even Kurosu and Nomura were informed just when the bombs would drop on Pearl Harbor.

Nevertheless, Kurosu and Nomura undoubtedly were instructed to stall for time. Official Washington knew they were stalling. For days they shuttled back and forth between the White House and the State Department. Even when Secretary Hull had become wrathful at the backing and filling; and President Roosevelt had so lost patience to Emperor Hirohito, Kurosu and Nomura still were bowing and scraping with assurances that peace in the Pacific was just over the horizon.

One hour after the first bombs and torpedoes had blasted Pearl Harbor, and almost at the same moment that Kurosu and Nomura were backing out of angry Secretary of State Hull's office for the last time, Hirohito's answer to the President's message was handed to Ambassador Grew in Tokyo.

The message said peace in the Pacific was "his majesty's cherished desire."

It'll be many a year before the United States plays "it" again in the blind man's buff of world diplomacy.

WE-ALL

The Japanese attack on the United States instantly changed our trend of thought in this country.

Before that attack some of us thought in terms of "I", others in terms of "we". Neither of those terms expresses our feelings today.

"I" represents only one person.

"We" may mean only two or a few persons.

Our slogan now is WE-ALL, which means every loyal individual in the United States.

We are facing a long, hard job, but when the United States decides to fight for a cause, it is in terms of WE-ALL, and nothing can or will stop us.

President Roosevelt, our Commander-in-Chief, can be certain that WE-ALL are back of him, determined to protect our country, our form of government, and the freedoms which we cherish.

War Comes to the Motorist

The 'Horse and Buggy Days' Are Comming Back

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — The "horse and buggy" days are coming back. For the first time since the second World War began, Mr. Average American is going to get a jolt where it hurts—in the neck that bends over the steering wheel.

If "the duration" lasts as long as some experts (including Mr. Winston Churchill, who says we'll be ready to take the initiative in 1943) predict, motor traffic will dwindle to a trickle and that story about the man who hadn't seen a horse in 20 years will be as out-dated as a bird cage bustle, red flannel underwear and a two-rat hair-do.

There is an average of one automobile to every family in the United States. According to the American Automobile Association, three-fourths of all the driving done in these 30-odd million vehicles is necessary to maintenance of the home, office or factory. If driving is drastically curtailed—and it's going to be unless present orders are rescinded—that means that the United States is in for one of the greatest domestic upheavals it has known.

Modern living is geared to the rapid transportation of the automobile and delivery truck. Suburbanites, farmers, factory workers who live miles from their places of business, and scores of other groups will have to rearrange their lives completely if they are to meet the emergency that will be caused by a vast lack in private transport.

The first blow to be felt and pretty quickly will be the result of the ban on tire sales and subsequently the rationing on such a restricted basis that only cars, trucks and buses deemed vitally necessary to the health and safety of the nation will be able to get rubber on which to roll.

Tire stocks consist of between seven and eight million new tires. On a basis of annual production of 48,000,000 in this country, that's about two months' supply. The stock of retreads and rebuilt tires is an unknown quantity, but government guessers think it can not possibly be greater than the new tire stock pile. It is thought certain

Osaviakhim is What Hit the Nazis in Russia

AP Feature Service

Hitler can lay it to the Russian winter if he likes, but Lucien Zacharoff has another word for it—Osaviakhim.

That, he says in a new book, "We Made a Mistake—Hitler," is one of the most important factors that bogged Germany down on the Russian steppe and turned its blitzkrieg into another retreat from Moscow.

Zacharoff, an American citizen who was born in the Ukraine, explains that Osaviakhim means The Society of Aid in Defense and Aviation-Chemical Upbuilding of the U. S. S. R. Despite the society's unpronounceable name, he says, it has been instrumental in making 15,000,000 Russians air-minded, capable of defending themselves with rifle, anti-bomb measures, first aid skills and tough-minded attitude towards any invader. It was because of this society that a million civilians took parachute jumps in a gas mask three months to show it could be done, that trench digging, skiing and clearing up bomb debris were second nature to hundreds of thousands when the crisis came.

Zacharoff, who is associate editor of Aircraft Publications, quotes at length from official German documents supposedly captured by the Russians and from other sources with out telling how he happened to lay hands on such material.

The Germans, he asserts, were completely hood-winked about the size and fighting power of the Russian units. They failed to reckon with Russian ability and willingness to fight

War calls have the right of way

In these troubled, wartime days the first duty of the telephone company is clear.

Our Army needs communication...fast, dependable communication to every part of this nation.

Our Navy needs it...

The industries which supply ships and guns and shells need it...

To provide that communication, the 28,000 men and women of the Southwestern Bell...the entire physical resources of this company...stand pledged.

The nation's job is our Number One job. The messages of war must go through as quickly and as surely as it is possible for human beings to handle them.

In blackouts, or during local emergencies born of war condition, please use your telephone only for vital calls.

Your help will keep the wires clear so that responsible officials may deal promptly with the situation.

Hearing Set

submitted to the members of the Oil and Gas Commission, pending formal hearing and pending discussions with the engineers of the Petroleum Coordinator's Office, for the Midway Area of Lafayette and Hempstead Counties, Arkansas, recently brought into production by the Barnsdall Oil Company's Edgar Bond No. 1 well, located in the NW¼, SW¼ (Sec. 11, Twp. 15 South, Range 24 West.

1. That the one well brought into production effective 7 a. m., January 1, 1942, be given a daily allowable of 400 barrels per day; that the unit for this well be forty acres, the well being drilled in the center of the forty acres.

2. That as soon as possible the engineers of the Oil and Gas Commission, together with the engineers of the Barnsdall Oil Company and the engineers of any interested operators, take the bottom hole pressure of the discovery well and the gas-oil ratio of the discovery well.

3. That prior to a formal hearing on the area at least two sets of bottom hole pressure and gas-oil ratio tests be made for comparative purposes; also that the well be closed to production 12 hours prior to the bottom hole pressure tests, but that the gas-oil ratio tests be made while the well is producing at the rate of 400 barrels per day.

4. That the spacing pattern for the Midway Area be one well to each 40 surface acres, said wells to be drilled in diagonal corners of the forties; i. e., 330 feet from lease lines and not nearer than 1320 feet from any other well. Said spacing rule is not to apply to the discovery well, which is drilled in the center of forty acres. The object of this spacing pattern is that possibly two separate and distinct productive horizons exist in this Midway Area, as shown by the electrical log of the discovery well. If, then, it is not feasible to complete the wells as dual productive zone.

5. That in the event a hearing on this area is delayed until other wells are drilled, then the allowable for all of the wells shall be as follows:

(a) The allowable for the discovery well shall be 400 barrels per day until a second well is drilled.

(b) With the advent of two producing wells, the allowable shall be 600 barrels per day, or 300 barrels for each well.

(c) With the advent of three wells, the allowable shall be 800 barrels per day, or 267 barrels per well.

NOTE: all of the foregoing is subject to the findings of the engineers and in the event said allowables cannot be produced without waste, they will be immediately lowered.
